

New for Spring 2016: Online Training to become a Career Focusing™ for Early High School Facilitator

Are you a career studies or guidance teacher?
Do you feel like something is missing?

Do you have students who

- worry about what to do after high school?
- are undecided about what courses to take in Grades 11 and 12?
- are fading away from school?
- aren't living up to their potential?

What if the missing link is your student's ability to make their own career decisions?
What if you could teach them how to do that?

Become a Career Focusing™ for Early High School Facilitator and learn how to take your students through our "how to make career decisions" workbook.

Your students will be able to:

- identify the work and learning that are a good fit for them
- make their Grades 11 and 12 course selections with confidence
- understand the importance of high school in getting to work and learning they will find satisfying and exciting
- find their own good answer to "Why should I bother to work hard?"
- carry their tools and skills with them for life and use them every time they face a new decision

Students love this proven and straightforward process that is 100% customized to them.

Teachers love that Career Focusing™ is a highly individualized group-delivery program.
